To the Farmers Around Qu'Appelle,

Please Read This and Don't Forget It When You Do :

I have just received a stock of the celebrated Claus Bread and Carving Knives. It is not necessary for me to say anything in regard to the quality of these goods, as they are the best in the market. There is no kitchen complete without a full set of these knives. The pleasure to any woman in using them is worth three times the price of them. By calling on me you can get Bread, Cake and Paring Knives, one steel Pot-Scraper, solid Emery Sharpener—the five pieces for $1. You can also get a first-class Wringing Machine, 11 inches, solid rubber rolls, for $3.50; No. 9 Copper Teakettles $1.25; No. 9 Wash Boiler, heavy tin, copper bottom, $1.75. I also have a full line of McClary's Famous Enamelled Steelware. This is without exception the best goods in this line that has ever been offered to the public. I am prepared to sell the same goods at rock-bottom prices. I have a full stock of Cream Cans on hand. When buying your cans see that they are wired top and bottom, latest improved steel top, mose gauge, and heavy tin; last but not least, see that you get them for 75c. These are not factory-made cans, they are my own make and I will guarantee every can. I keep no huckster shop; I do not dabble in every business and at the same time not keep a full stock of anything. I keep nothing but what belongs to my trade and I endeavor to keep a full stock of everything in that line and am prepared to sell the same at Winnipeg prices. It is to the farmers of this district that I look to for patronage, and what I say is this, if you can buy the same class of goods for less money than I offer them to you, then don't buy from me; if you cannot, give me a chance to show to make a living in your town. "Live and let live," that's my motto. Thanking you for all past favors, I remain your humble servant,

WILLIAM JOHNSTON,
Tinsmith, Qu'Appelle Station.

Local and General

—Mr. C. Babbitt returned on Sunday from a visit to eastern points.

—Two cases of true leprosy are reported in Winnipeg. Both are Icelanders.

—Staff Sergt. Des Barres passed through on Saturday's delayed Pacific express.

—Mr. J. H. Doolittle has moved from the court room to his new office in the town hall.

—Mr. J. H. Dobson, local agent for the Dominion Express company, Winnipeg, is seriously ill.

—Mr. McDonald, Hudson Bay factor, paid a visit to Regina on Saturday, returning on Sunday.

—A flue on a freight engine at the depot, burst on Monday night. Fortunately no one was injured.

—The cold weather of the last few days seems to have postponed the advent of spring indefinitely.

—Mrs. J. Bray returned from a three month's visit to her old home at Uxbridge, Ont., on Monday last.

St. Patrick, not a sin or crime, would we now have to grope, had we been born about the time when Adam lived with Eve.

—Several valuable dogs have met with tragic deaths lately the result of poison, administered by a party or parties unknown—at present.

—Mr. J. H. MacCall is slowly recovering from his severe attack of sciatica, but is still confined to the house.

—Mr. G. M. Miller, Winnipeg, advertises in another column for bicycle agents. A good chance for a live man.

—Mr. W. Johnston has just put in a new spring stock of tinware, etc., which he invites the public to call and inspect. See advt. in another column.

Watson Crosby, M.P.P. for Dennis, Man., died at the Winnipeg General Hospital on Friday last, of typhoid fever. The remains were interred at Virden.

Just now, when McGuiness goes out on a boat and spends his time tilting a glass, he feels by next morning the snake in the hat.

—In view of the high water expected this spring in Manitoba, we invite all wishing to escape the wet to visit Qu'Appelle Station, where no fears of flood exist.

—Messrs. J. and W. McMichael will arrive from Ontario about the 1st of April, with three carloads of heavy draught horses, thoroughbred shorthorn cows and bulls.

—Mr. N. F. Davin, M. P., passed through on his way to Ottawa on Thursday last, to attend the opening of parliament, which takes place to-day. He was accompanied by Mrs. Davin.

—The creamery ice-house has been completed under the able superintendence of Mr. J. B. Robinson, whose motto has hitherto been and always will be, "neatness and durability."

A despatch from Calgary says the Galician settlers sent to Edmonton from Winnipeg are starving, and are absolutely dependant on the charity of their neighbors to the north for support.

—Among the immigrants at the immigration hall in Winnipeg last week, says the Commercial, were some Mennonites who left Manitoba a few years ago for the States, but who are now glad to get back again. They will again take up land here.

—Frederick Rowland, a well known trader of the Edmonton district, is dead. He had lately received the contract for carrying the mails from Edmonton to Peace Valley, a distance of 350 miles, and when near the end of his return journey contracted pneumonia from which he died soon after his arrival home.

—Dr. P. F. Size, dentist, of Regina, will be at the Leland hotel, Qu'Appelle, for the practice of his profession, April 9th and 10th.

—Constable Hansen came down from Fort Polly on Sunday, says the Yorkton Enterprise, and reports great mortality amongst the Indians in that region.

"I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure at the drug store of Mr. Boyle here. I am thankful to say it has proved most effective. I have also tried your Kidney Pills and found them excellent." Henry H. Nicholls, rectory, London.

—Mr. G. M. Bailey, agent for the Imperial Silverware Co., of Windsor, Ont., has been busy this week delivering goods ordered, and he says everyone is delighted with their purchase.

—The March number of Farming is a special dairy service number. Besides the first paper on the work of the dairy commissioner, it contains interesting articles on all branches of agriculture and is handsomely illustrated. Price $1 per year.

—The following appointments appear in the last Northwest Gazette: Ernest S. Kent, Edgely farm, to be a commissioner for taking affidavits; F. S. Proctor, Fort Qu'Appelle, and Rev. Gilbert Cook, Wishart, Assa., to be issuers of marriage licenses.

Curliana.

The final game for the Beauchamp trophy was played on Monday evening, and attracted a large crowd to the rink to witness it. The game was between rinks skipped by Dr. Carnew and C. T. Bailey, the latter winning by three points. Mr. Bailey's rink is to be congratulated as the pins forming the trophy are very handsome.

In last week's issue, we inadvertently missed mentioning the receipt of the medals won by the Heather club at the Grenfell bonspiel. By the number of "Oh's" heard, we should judge they were highly appreciated by the boys.

Spencerville Splashes.

(From our own correspondent.)

On Friday evening, the 19th inst., a dance, given by the young people, was held at Mrs. Gordon's. We were glad to see so many. We understand about thirty-four graced the festivities with their presence. The dancing kept up till a late (or early) hour. Judging by their faces everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Although the trails are so bad, our young ladies and gents seem to find a deal of pleasure in driving; but perhaps it is because they (like the animals leaving the ark) do it two by two.

Your McDonald Hills correspondent in the paper of the 18th inst., was kind enough to refer in an appreciative manner to the Splashes, and just to oblige we are splashing once more.

As the election in January of a school trustee for Starr's Point was declared illegal, a new election was held on Saturday, when, as there was no opposition, Mr. J. F. Cates was duly appointed trustee.

One of our young ladies does not recommend the luxury of driving slugs.

The boys on the hill intend getting a gross of buck saws. Geewhit-taker, then won't they have a bear when the young sparks come round and the woodpile grows apace!

We would suggest that our young folks hold their next surprise in the day time so as to improve the roads.

Starr's Point Twinkles.

McMichael Bros. will return from the east shortly with a number of fine horses and cattle.

Mr. Blakeney lost a fine horse last week by inflammation.

Our noble young bachelors gave a party at McPherson's on Wednesday last and a most enjoyable time was spent, although the fair sex were in the minority.

Starr's school is earning a reputation. On Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., the teacher left her pupils' morning exercises on the blackboard. On her arrival in the morning all was obliterated and some scurrilous writing in its place. The party who did the deed has been located and is advised to improve his mind somewhat.

OUR FIRST TEMPERANCE MEETING.

You may laugh if you please with this penalty in— That you also add something to make others gain. Our first temperance meeting I took for my text— You will probably wonder what's coming next. Next comes our minister; and with me you'll declare There was none half so worthy to sit in the chair; We feel safe in his keeping, and hope he will stay To guide and direct us for many a day. Next our superintendent, our own guiding star, Who shines quite near us and not from afar. He gave a good reading, instructive and new, Which pleased every one, not simply a few. Shine on, O Star, and let your light Ever and ever become more bright. Indeed, Sir, that night our sky was quite starry.

For another appeared, our friend Mr. Harry. The Star ever is willing and ready To shine just as bright if not quite so steady. He's more of the twinkling order, I think, For he carried his audience over the brink Of laughter and merriment and made them quite frisky.

As he told them of a giant, a monster named Whiskey. The Syndicate party, as all could see, Came well to the front with solo and glee; Miss Bailey, a reading, Mr. Sam, a good song. We could listen to them for ever so long. And not the least, in my estimation, Was our lovely young school marm in a good recitation.

Mr. Bray was wound up to go for an hour And can strike pretty hard with his wonderful power. Of prayer, recitation, sermon and song— Were he to go for a day we'd not think it too long.

I wish, Mr. President, you'd wind him up To go for two hours with the whole of his might; We'd never get tired of hearing his stories; His wit and good humor add to his glories. Nor must I forget, in the midst of my banter, That charming young girl in the red tann coat.

She gave a good reading with grace and good ease, We liked her so much, for she everyone pleased.

Bar, young man, look out or some day per- adventure, You'll be exiled to account in a good curtain lecture. But I think, my dear Sir, what would quite fill a bill Was the good things we got from the house on the hill. You'll agree with me they came in great forces Full to the brim of song and discourses.

The Misses McMichael gave a charming duet— Miss Bessie sang well in the glee, you just bet.

But the best part of all came from young Master Robbie. Although by his friends he is sometimes called Bobby, He can sing and recite with very great ease. We shall hear something more which I am sure will all please; Premier of our country some day he'll become.

How proud we shall be to have had such a chum! For prohibition I am sure he'll go in And banish all brands, whiskey and gin. Of singing and speaking he has such a knack.

That Sir Robert (will be, not plain Mr. Mac) With such success, Master Robbie, Mac we wish you success, Master Robbie, Mac we wish you success.

And the next time you come please give us some more. And when this clever young man comes in to his site We'll give three rousing cheers for Sir Robert McMichael.

I am not forgetting, or would I be tardy To say a good word for our little Miss Hardy. Her recitation was beautifully given Which shows how well to learn she had striven.

Mr. Geo. Bailey was billed to appear But didn't— to everyone present that was quite clear, quite clear. And instead of singing in temperance cause He stayed at home and held his jaws.

And from the same cause our temperance boys Were prevented from making their very great noise. But when it came to the turn of our friend Mr. Downing

He couldn't recite—the poor negro was drowning In black beer, I think, or some such stuff. The name of that liquor for me is quite enough.

None for me, thank you, I'm quite a decider Since I know that black beer is made of negro and spider.

Mr. Downing was worse, for she could not remember. All she had learnt thirty years ago came November.

Forgive her this once, and some day per- haps She will give you another without any lapses. And who knows but that perhaps before very long, It is quite on the cards she may give us a song.

With the last three exceptions they all were so good, That I think, Mr. Chairman, if any one could Took them all up in the air to see whether Whom was the best, they'd come down to- gether.

You'll observe this is not quite from the pen of a Browning, But from only yours faithfully, M. J. Downing.

Chickney Chirpings.

(From our own correspondent.)

Forty-four persons assembled at the house of Samuel Chipperfield on the night of the 16th inst. The occasion was what is commonly called a surprise party, therefore the friends came laden with all kinds of good things, including sandwiches, pies, cakes, etc. After everyone had done justice to these eatables, the principal event of the evening—a presentation to the host—came. Mr. A. B. Ferrier opened the proceedings by giving a speech, explaining the cause of their visit and the reason why they had taken the house by storm. Then Mr. John Teece, after a suitable address, presented Mr. Chipperfield with the sum of $30.00 on behalf of the company assembled, as a slight appreciation for helping to conduct the Sunday services. After this speeches were delivered by Messrs. H. and E. Dixon and Mr. Jas. Starling. Each of them told how he had been benefitted by listening to Mr. Chipperfield's discourses, and asked him to receive the money, not merely as a gift, but as a token of their goodwill and esteem. Mr. Chipperfield then rose and accepted it in a few fitting words, after which he gave an interesting account of his life, which has evidently been an eventful one. Among other things he related how one of his father's school masters, who was named Page, had in his possession four geese and one gander. One morning he went out and could see nothing but the gander waddling about—the geese nowhere in sight. After a while, however, he noticed a little packet tied to the gander's neck, which, after a little difficulty, he secured. On opening it he found four pennies and these words on a little slip of paper:

Dear Mr. Page, Don't be in a rage. For we've bought your geese, and sent the money home by the gander. He was in a rage.

After the speeches were over, a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Ferrier, who has had most of the work in getting up the presentation. After this, music, readings and recitations were the order of the hour. Jos. Muon sang and acted "I won't play in your yard;" Jos. Starling rendered two very amusing recitations; Mr. Ferrier, in his own racy style, told one or two very comical stories; Mr. Chipperfield read two of his own original poems, entitled, "The Donkey" and "Dreams;" Mr. A. D. Garratt sang, "What can you wish for more?" and acted and sang "The Cobbler," and recited "The Fanner and the Wheel;" John Teece and Sydney Chipperfield gave a few readings, entitled in their respective order, "A Melting Story," "The Donation Party," "The Boys around the House," and "The Captive Maiden;" and Master Frank Dixon gave a recitation. Mouth-organ solos were rendered by Messrs. Sulborn, Coulthard and Jones. After the singing of a few hymns and the reading of a few verses from the "Book of Books," the party broke up and dispersed to their separate homes, happy in the thought that "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Miss Eva Chipperfield has been visiting friends at Pheasant Forks.

The Patrons of Industry held a public social on the 17th at Pheasant Forks. A few from this district attended and report having had a good time.

Our board of trustees will hold the court of revision at the school house on the 5th prox.
